Last updated 10:14 20/01/2015

Hamilton's CTC Aviation has been named as a finalist in the 2015 New Zealand International Business Awards.

It is joined by Auckland-based Manuka Health, which has just opened a $10 million factory in Te Awamutu.

CTC Aviation, which belongs to the British CTC Aviation Group, will compete against Manuka Health in the Best Business Operating Internationally – $10m-$50m category.

Later this month finalists will be giving a 30 minute pitch and take a Q&A session before a judging panel, with the winners to be announced on March 25.

The New Zealand International Business Awards are organised by New Zealand Trade and Enterprise, with the support of Strategic Partner ANZ. They celebrate New Zealand business success in the world and recognise professional excellence and innovative practice.
